Forecast For The United Kingdom
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Friday 02 Apr 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Dry. Best of sunshine and temperatures in west and north.

Today:
Areas of cloud affecting some eastern and central areas, keeping it rather chilly, especially along coasts. Further west, a greater share of sunshine, along with reasonable temperatures, so it should feel fairly warm by afternoon. Breezy in south and east.

Tonight:
Still rather cloudy in the east, perhaps an odd light shower along southeastern coasts. Elsewhere dry with clear spells and frost; a few patches of fog, most likely Northern Ireland.

Saturday:
Still rather cloudy and chilly in the east and southeast, although a few sunny intervals likely for most. Elsewhere quite sunny; reasonably warm by afternoon, especially across parts of Scotland.

Outlook for Sunday to Tuesday:
Fine at first Sunday before a band of rain sweeps south. Much colder with sunshine but hail and snow showers for many follows Monday and Tuesday. Windy, coastal gales.
